DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- a. species shown in Fig. 4; and
- b. species shown in Figs. 7 and 8.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species a: claims 1-12.

Species b: claims 13-20.

Art Unit: 2854

Currently, no claim appears to be generic because the claimed structure of independent claim 1 only reads on species a.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Species a requires a resilient element arranged between the squeegee edge and the squeegee holder to press the squeegee away from the squeegee holder by spring force and the squeegee unit is provided with travel-limiting means that limits the distance that the squeegee edge can move from the working position in a direction away from the squeegee holder. Species b requires the squeegee blade to be secured to the squeegee holder via at least one spring hinge with high stiffness. The structural requirement for each of the species a and b is distinct from the other and species a and b are mutually exclusive. Therefore, species a and b lack the same or corresponding special technical features and are not directed to a single general inventive concept as required.
